2 DEAD, 10 HURT IN WEEKEND TRAFFIC

Picnickers See 5 Children Die On Rail Trestle

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (P) — Horrified picnickers saw a speeding train plow through five children trapped on a lofty railroad trestle Sunday. All five died.

A sixth youngster raced to safety at one end of the mile-long viaduct moments ahead of the passenger train, the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited.

Engineer J. W. Euforth jammed on the emergency brakes in vain while scores of persons gathered for Easter picnics screamed for the four girls and one boy to jump.

The youngsters were caught about a fourth of a mile out on the bridge past a curve hiding the train's approach. At that point the viaduct towers 40 feet above the brushy bed of the Medina River.

Among those gathered below to eat their noon meal in a park were about 50 relatives of the children. The park is on the river banks at McDonna, 15 miles southwest of here in South Texas.

THREE CHILDREN of Mrs. Paula Garza, San Antonio, and two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Ramirez, Laredo, Tex., were killed. Ramirez is Mrs. Garza's brother.

The dead: Diana Garza, 11; Louis Garza, 12; Laura Garza, 16; Anna Maria Ramirez, 13; and Norma Ramirez, 15. Norma died at a hospital several hours later. The others were killed outright.

Manuel Ramirez, 12, scrambled off one end of the trestle seconds ahead of the train.

"Several people yelled at the children when we saw the train coming," said Iderly Gutierrez, 27, a cousin from Corpus Christi.

"I shouted to them to jump, to get off the bridge. They were panicky. They started running; they didn't know what to do."

Engineer Euforth said the train was traveling 61 m.p.h. as it rounded the curve.

"The kids didn't have a chance," he said. "There was no place for them to go."

"As I straightened out I saw those kids on the track. I went into full emergency procedure at once. I must have gone one half to three quarters of a mile out on the viaduct."

Ramirez brought his family last Friday for a reunion at the Garza home, and other relatives joined them for the outing in the park.

Odd Mishaps Mar Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A train crash . . . a fall . . . a parachute jump . . . a gun that accidentally fired. These were the causes of five deaths during Ohio's Easter weekend that dimmed somewhat the news spotlight on slight traffic fatalities.

The head-on collision of two freight trains in Brown County killed two Portsmouth crewmen, Leon J. Shack, 62, and F. E. Spence, 62.

Three men bailed out of a plane 6,000 feet over Youngstown in a practice jump. One man's parachute failed to open. He was Imre Horvath, 22.

A 13-year-old boy, Stephen Holzapfel, was cleaning his father's gun in their suburban home near Columbus. The gun went off, fatally wounding him in the head. He was taken to the hospital where his father, a doctor, was on duty. A Cincinnati father was examining a prospective new home when a board broke. He and his two children he was holding dropped 10 feet. One, a 20-month-old boy, James Barnes, died. The father and other child were not hurt.

Severe Quake Shakes Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (P) — A major earthquake was felt here today starting at 5:31 a. m.

The quake swayed light fixtures and tumbled equipment from shelves in the Fairbanks News-Miner newspaper office, but no damage was reported in the city.

At Columbia University in New York City, a seismologist said the quake might cause a tidal wave.

100 More Employees Probable in Printing, Warehousing Activities

NCR Discloses Plans for New Addition Here

The large addition being erected at the National Cash Register Co.'s Washington C. H. plant will make possible greatly expanded printing and warehousing operations, according to company officials.

Completion of the 162,000-square-foot addition is scheduled in August. It is anticipated that the subsequent buildup to full capacity operations will require approximately an additional year.

The company said that it is not possible to predict at this time the level of eventual employment at the plant, since this will depend on future demand for NCR products and also on the general economic situation.

Under a full capacity operation, however, employment would be approximately 100 persons greater than NCR's present employment level at Washington C. H., which is 182 persons.

PRINTING OPERATIONS planned for the new addition will include overprinting of standard-type forms used in NCR accounting machines according to customer specifications, and eventually complete printing of special - type NCR accounting machine forms if demand warrants this step.

The company also plans to print certain types of cash register receipt rolls at the Washington C. H. plant as well as the labels which are used with NCR labeling machines for packaging self - service meats and other commodities.

Warehousing at Washington C. H. will also be greatly increased as a result of the addition, company officials said.

Various stock forms, both for the use of NCR's Dayton factory and also some customer - type forms, will be stored here following completion of the addition.

The greater space will also enable more extensive warehousing of the company's advertising and sales promotional material, as well as NCR (No Carbon Required) Paper, which is used in the manufacture of carbonless business forms.

NCR CURRENTLY is using warehouse facilities of 133 S. Main St. the former site of the old Washington Candy Co. It is anticipated that these facilities will no longer be needed with completion of the new addition.

NCR's present operations at the Washington C. H. plant consist almost entirely of manufacturing cash register and adding machine receipt rolls and paper tapes.

Total area of the present plant is 87,000 square feet. The new addition will almost triple the total space available.

Paper roll production here has increased steadily in recent years, and it is anticipated that this year's output will exceed that of 1957 by approximately 5 per cent.

THE NEW ADDITION consists of a separate building 550 feet long and 250 feet wide, on the north side of the present NCR structure.

Except for the front portion of the building and extending back 50 feet, the addition is of one-story structure. The two-story section at the front will house office operations.

A truck-loading dock with a railroad spur along one side will greatly enlarge present dock and shipping facilities. Parking space for 265 cars will be provided on the north side of the new building. The old and new buildings will be connected by tunnel.

The NCR plant is located on Route 35 a few miles southeast of the city.

Tragedy Ends Easter Errand For Daytonians

A Dayton man and his son were killed, and three of his family injured, when an auto accident in northern Fayette County ended an errand of Easter cheer Sunday morning.

Eight other local traffic mishaps, in which seven persons were hurt, gave state, county and city officers one of their worst weekends in many months. Two drivers were arrested in connection with the wrecks.

Sheriff Orland Hays said that Arthur Pettit, 53, and his son, Jimmie, 8, were killed instantly when they were thrown from a station wagon as it overturned in a field on the Herbert Markley farm, CCC Highway nine miles north of Washington C. H., at 7:45 a. m. Sunday.

In "fair" condition at Memorial Hospital Monday were Mrs. Pettit, 41, driver of the car, and a daughter, Yvonne, 7. A son, Elwood, 18, was released after treatment following the accident.

THE PETTITS were on their way to the Orient State School when a tire blew out causing the wreck. The back of the station wagon was filled with Easter candy and other goodies for the inmates of the school.

About half the candy — coated Easter eggs — was scattered in a bizarre pattern from the point where the car left the road to the spot where it landed in the mud-soaked field. Sheriff Hays took the salvageable candy to the school himself later Easter morning.

Roger Hays, who lives about a quarter of a mile from the place where the wreck occurred, said he heard the tire blow out just before the crash. A truck driver, coming the other direction at the time said the car skidded from side to side, then flipped over and literally flew into the field, landing on its top.

Both the father and the 8-year-old son were thrown clear of the wreck before it landed, as were Mrs. Pettit and her daughter. The 18-year-old, least injured of the five, was the only one to remain in the car.

DR. EDWIN DAVIS, deputy coroner, said both victims died of neck fractures.

Mrs. Pettit was being treated in the hospital for a shoulder injury, leg cuts, and severe shock. Yvonne is receiving treatment for a leg fracture.

The station wagon belonged to Srepro of Dayton, an electronics manufacturing firm where Pettit worked as a truck driver. Srepro employees had taken up a collection to buy the Easter treats for the institution wards, it was said.

Pettit had no relatives in the Washington C. H. area, but he has three brothers living near Mt. Sterling and three sons in Chillicothe. He was born in Cleveland.

Three Ohioans Among Dead in Runway Wreck

MIDLAND, Mich. (P) — A Capital Airlines Viscount plane crashed and burned in a spring snowfall Sunday night, killing all 47 persons aboard.

The four-engine plane slammed into a muddy field about 2,300 feet short of a runway of the Tri-City Airport. The airport serves Midland, Saginaw and Bay City.

Bodies were scattered across a wide area. Charred bodies were found in the shattered wreckage. Ohio passengers aboard the plane were:

Curtis Warren, 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren, of Minford.

Joe Girlando of Akron, record-setting athlete at Case Institute last year.

J. B. Shoop of Columbus.

Warner Law, owner of the farm on which the plane crashed, said: "There was no chance of anyone getting out. The plane came in hard. It didn't fall. It ran into the ground."

CONTROL TOWER officials said it was windy and snow was falling as the plane approached for a landing at 11:15 p. m. Visibility was three miles with a 900-foot ceiling.

Voters May Tip Action on Taxes

Sentiment Veering Away from Slash

WASHINGTON (P) — Congressional sentiment may be veering away from cutting taxes. The balance on the issue could be tipped either way by what congressmen learn in talks with voters.

Most Senate and House members, home for an extended Easter vacation, will be able to sound out public opinion on tax reduction and other proposals for reversing the recession.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), who favors trimming both income and excise levies, forecast the senators and representatives will return next Monday anxious to start cutting taxes.

"The quickest and most effective way of fighting the recession is through a tax cut of about six billion dollars," Douglas said.

But Sen. Mansfield of Montana, acting Senate Democratic leader, said he detected a "definite trend away from tax reductions, although I personally think the right kind" of cuts would give the economy a needed lift.

FINANCIER Bernard Baruch's opposition to tax reduction appeared to have had considerable influence on congressional thinking. He proposed going in the other direction and boost taxes if necessary to pay for emergency antirecession measures.

Mansfield said he thinks the views of Baruch and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson have had a lot to do with what Mansfield said is a cooling of Republican and Democratic ardor for tax slashing. Anderson is known to favor a go-cautiously course.

Sen. Ives (R-NY) cited Baruch's testimony in opposing tax cuts at this time. Both Ives and Sen. Javits (R-NY) said cuts could be inflationary and would not do much to swell purchasing power.

"A tax cut of a kind being talked about," Javits said, "would

Probe Killing in Lana Turner Home

THESE ARE THE TENSE SCENES as police investigated the butcher-knife killing of Johnny Stompanato, 43, "gigolo type" boyfriend of 38-year-old Lana Turner, in the star's home in Beverly Hills, Calif. Lana's daughter, Cheryl Crane, 14, admitted she ran into the pink bedroom and stabbed Stompanato in the abdomen when she heard him threaten her mother. Left: A policeman examines body on bedroom floor. Upper right: Cheryl greets Stompanato as he and her mother returned from an Acapulco jaunt recently. Lower right: Lana, accompanied by attorney Jerry Giesler, enters Beverly Hills police station shortly after the killing. Lana said she was "deathly afraid" of Stompanato.

3 Blinded Mice Proven Expensive

BOSTON (P) — David A. Rockwood was burning leaves in his backyard when he discovered a nest of mice. He doused them with kerosene. It blinded three of them.

The three blinded mice ran through the fire, then with their bodies ablaze they hid under the porch, setting fire to the house.

Damage: $1,500.

2 Crewmen Die in N&W Rail Pileup

SARDINIA (P) — Repair crews spurred efforts today to clear away the tangled debris of broken boxcars and scattered locomotives after a two-train collision that killed two crewmen and injured five men.

Investigators want to learn the cause of the crash that came during an early morning rain squall Sunday in this small Brown County community. The crash touched off a fire in spilled diesel fuel oil.

Norfolk and Western Railroad workers started salvage operations and the State Highway Patrol said the men hope to clear the road to traffic today.

Thirty boxcars and five diesel locomotives lay shattered in the wreckage.

Engineer Leon J. Shack, 62, and his fireman, Furman E. Spence, 62, both of Portsmouth, were killed when their eastbound train, headed for a siding, was struck by the westbound freight.

Ralph Hunter, 48, of Portsmouth, brakeman aboard the westbound train, suffered extensive burns and was taken to a Cincinnati hospital where aides said he is not expected to live.

Four crewmen suffered less serious injuries in the crash and four others were unhurt. William Mylenbush, 44, South Beloit, Ill., a representative of a General Electric locomotive factory, who was aboard the westbound freight, suffered head and body cuts.

Railroad officials said they have not firmly established the cause of the crash, but said track signals were apparently working.

Author Elliot Paul Dies at Age 67

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (P) — Elliot Harold Paul, 67, author of about 35 books, died in Veterans' Administration Hospital today after a long illness.

His outstanding books included "The Life and Death of a Spanish Town," written after the Spanish civil war; and "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

He was married five times; the third marriage ended by death and the others by divorce. He had a son by his fourth marriage, Leslie, 10.

Cuban Chief Says Rebels To Be Captured Bit by Bit

HAVANA (P) — President Fulgenio Batista's army today claimed it had whipped one big contingent of Fidel Castro's rebels and was pursuing it and another major rebel band in the mountains of eastern Cuba.

The army also claimed it had shot down a foreign C-46 transport plane bringing arms to be dropped to Castro. The announcement said the plane crashed and burned and the crew was killed. But the country where the plane originated and the identities of the plane crew were not announced.

The general staff said its forces had defeated a large rebel outfit headed by Paul Castro, the rebel chief's brother, which had been operating along the northern coast of Oriente province.

The rebel group was reported scattered, forced back into the Sierra Maestra and "isolated." The communiqué said 7 rebels were killed and more than 30 wounded or captured. Earlier Batista's forces claimed more than two dozen rebels were killed Sunday in Oriente.

The army had said Saturday it had isolated Fidel Castro and another big group of rebels in the mountains, but rebel sources shrugged this off. They said Castro had been "sealed off" in the Sierra Maestra since he began his revolt 16 months ago.

The army said its men were pursuing both rebel groups.

Batista, visited by newsmen at his heavily guarded farm outside Havana, said the army's strategy was to decimate the rebel ranks bit by bit.

"The army strategy is not to go barging into the mountains and killing a lot of innocent people," he declared, "but to isolate the rebels and capture them all."

Although Castro was still at large, the total war he was supposed to have begun two days ago still had not materialized.

Batista told newsmen that if Castro is seized alive, "there will be a fair trial." He added,

SCATTERED EASTER CANDY surrounds the wreckage of a station wagon which rolled over after a tire blew out on the CCC highway about nine miles north Easter morning, killing Arthur Pettit, 53, of Dayton and his son, Jimmy 8. Three other members of the Pettit family were injured, two of them seriously.

Businessmen Wonder What April Holds

Construction HIRINGS
Expected To Climb;
Other Layoffs Due

By WALTER BREED JR.
NEW YORK (AP) — Which way
U.S. business in April?
For most Americans last week, the picture was anything but clear.

Job hunters could expect increased hiring in home building, road construction and projects connected with national defense.
But in most manufacturing industries—and in mining and transportation—the outlook was for layoffs and retrenchments beyond those already announced in March.

Taking the economy as a whole,
signs of the usual spring upturn were conspicuous by their absence.

Here and there you could find exceptions.

With the railroads pulling in their horns all over the lot, the Milwaukee Road confidently placed a 12-million-dollar order for 1,150 new freight cars.

Caterpillar Tractor Co. reinstated a full five-day week at its plants in Peoria, Joliet, Milwaukee and San Leandro, Calif.

American Machine & Foundry
Co. stepped up production of automatic pinpointers for bowling alleys from 600 to 800 a month.

These were isolated cases. Most of the key indicators at the start of April—described by Labor Secretary Mitchell as the month to watch—still pointed lower.

More than half the steel industry's productive capacity stood idle last week. Output was estimated by the American Iron & Steel Institute at 1,298,000 ingot tons. Even allowing for absenteeism on Good Friday, this was the smallest for any strike-free week since 1949.

After chugging along in second gear for most of the winter, the auto industry shifted into low.
New car production sagged to 66, 000, lowest for any normal operating week since 1952. In the same week last year Detroit rolled out more than 130,000 passenger models.

With sales sagging and costs pinching, some companies resorted to pay cuts. The Pennsylvania Railroad ordered a 10 per cent reduction in the pay of all employees earning more than $10,000 a year.

Easter business in the nation's stores was disappointing. That's the latest word from merchants who until recently had hoped for an 11th-hour upsurge in sales.

in each case following the examination by the specialists and will be sent to the physician referring the case. He in turn will report to the family.

The specialists for this clinic

3 Scouts Here Elected To 'Order of the Arrow'

CHOSEN FOR HONOR—Scoutmaster Richard Curl (left) and two members of his Troop 112—Star Scout John Wood, 11, and Star Explorer Scout Henry Pendergraft, 16,—huddle to talk over details of the Order of the Arrow, an honorary campers brotherhood of Scouts and Scouters. All three were elected by Troop 112 to be its representatives in the "ordeale" initiation the campers' group will hold at Camp Lazarus near Delaware in early June.

Boy Scout Troop 112 elected its Scoutmaster, Richard Curl, Scout
John Wood, 11, and Explorer Henry Pendergraft, 16, both of Star Scout rank, to be initiated into Scouting's "Order of the Arrow" honorary campers' brotherhood in "ordeale" ceremonies to be held at Camp Lazarus near Delaware in early June. The troop held this election at a special meeting last Monday evening in the American Legion Hall.

Order of the Arrow member Paul Norcross, Jr., conducted the election of the two Scouts. The election of Scoutmaster Curl was supervised by the troop committee of the American Legion.

Scout Peter Hayes, now of Troop 112, is the only other Scout in Fayette County KNOWN to have received the honor of being named for initiation into the Order of the Arrow. He received his honor while a member of a troop in Chillicothe.

THE "ORDEALE" or primary initiation, ceremonies of the Order of the Arrow will span a period of two days and nights. Then, upon successful completion of requirements, the Washington C. H. trio of Scouters will be inducted into "Katinonkwat Lodge 93" of the Central Ohio lodge of OA.

Arrow members of a Scout Council here form a lodge in the sense of an Indian hunting or council lodge. Elements of Indian traditions are used in ceremonies for the dramatic effect.

The Order of the Arrow was founded in 1915, the outgrowth of the desire of the directors of a Philadelphia Scout camp to emphasize the skills and principles of Scouting.

Richard Curl, scoutmaster of Troop 112, is also Cubmaster of Pack 345 at Staunton. He completed cubmaster, scoutmaster and troop camping training, and, for excellent scout devotion, was presented a memento of the National Jamboree by the Fayette County Scouting committee. He was commended for helping save the life of a man by Charles M. Heistand, assistant chief Scout executive of the National Council. Mrs. Curl and their two sons are also connected with Scouting.

THE SCOUTMASTER'S achievements include: Spring Camporee, honors; National Camping Award;

Violence, as a Protest, Occurs Too Often

Fortunately this community has been comparatively free of outbreaks of violence which seems to be on the increase and altogether too common in various places.

That Fayette County is perhaps regarded as conservative, just as most of our neighboring Ohio counties are considered, may be the reason, but in some localities violence beyond the realm of reason are hard to understand.

The use of explosives to cause trouble seems to be a growing tendency in some localities. They have appeared in the news columns of many papers all too often.

Among recent incidents are such things as an attempt to blow up a county juvenile detention home in Atlanta, Ga. While this cost no lives it came close to being a frightening disaster. There were 51 persons in the building at the time but the main force of the explosion was just outside.

In another instance the bombing of a Negro owned home on the edge of a white settlement area in that same city and the dynamiting of Jewish centers in Nashville and Miami, show that such incidents are not isolated. There have been many others recently noted. Frequent burning of homes, some in Ohio, as protests have been noted.

The question has been raised whether violence has reached a point of acceptance by too many people of today as a routine method of protest against conditions, things or persons whom somebody doesn't like. Has this method taken over as against orderly and life - sparing processes provided by law?

It begins to appear that the irresponsible element of our population, referred to by some as the "lunatic fringe", has become unduly disturbed and encouraged to such action by either social or economic conditions. However this is not always the case.

There should be quick reaction and punishment for the guilty ones who seem to know no other method, regardless of whether they are inspired by organizations of the Klan type or any other controversial crowd.

Such methods of expressing objections seemingly come from a type of low mentality which apparently only fears positive and quick retribution as a deterrent to criminal intent.

Diet and Health Treating Children Who Have Diabetes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DIABETES in children is often more difficult to treat than it is in the middle-aged or elderly. This is because it presents special therapeutic problems which can make things rather difficult for both the doctor and the patient.

For one thing, most diabetic children are undernourished when the disease is discovered. Diabetes usually strikes children rather abruptly, and the symptoms are generally more severe than in adult cases.

Dangerous Infections
Dangerous infections occur more readily in young diabetics. Their nutritional needs are greater than those of adult patients, and these needs change constantly.

That's why many physicians recommend that a child with diabetes be hospitalized during the time when both he and his parents are being indoctrinated in the changes which must be made in his life and his care in general.

Same General Diet
Many young diabetics can get along pretty well on the same general diet that non-diabetic youngsters eat.

Such a diet should provide enough calories to meet growth and activity needs of the individual child. It should also be rich in protective foods and it should have a fairly high protein content.

Sugar, and all foods containing sugar, of course, should be eliminated from the diet.

I'm not going to suggest a

DORÉ SCHARY, ex-bigwig of Hollywood, is the author of the new hit-play about F.D.R., "Sunrise at Campobello." Asked if he would sell the picture rights to the studio he once ruled, Schary chuckled, "I refer you to a remark of the great Samuel Johnson: 'No man but a blockhead ever wrote except for money.'" An associate added, "You may call this the open Doré policy."

Incidentally, the movie magnate who first summoned Doré Schary to California thought he was hiring a girl, and was mighty surprised when a 6-foot he-man answered the call.

Bandits were robbing a small but rich bank. Their leader was scooping up the last trayful of loot when the cashier implored, "Do me a favor and take the books, too. I'm a couple of hundred thousand short!"

You have to hand it to the state of Texas. Even the birds there have gotten into the act. They now fly south for the winter in chartered planes.

Special Assembly Session Said Poison in Voting Year

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—For the benefit of any Ohioan who has been lying awake nights worrying about a possible special session of the Legislature, here is a word of assurance:

Go to sleep. As things stand now, there isn't a ghost of a chance.

There's a good reason. Special sessions in election years are political poison.

Records dating all the way back to 1940 must be scanned before you can find a governor who was re-elected after calling an election-year special session.

That was Republican John W. Bricker, late in his first term, when he called the Legislature to divorce the presidential ballot from the state ballot.

Democrat Frank J. Lausche called the Legislature three times in the election year of 1946, late in his first term, and he was defeated in November that year by Republican Thomas J. Herbert.

Herbert, in mid-1948, called the Legislature to increase pensions for the aged and blind and to reduce the sales tax, but he was defeated in November by a Lausche comeback.

Lausche never again called an election-year special session while he still was a candidate for governor.

So, despite pressures from many sides for a special legislative session to cover a multitude of issues, Republican C. William O'Neill has no present intention of risking his political neck in the rough-and-tumble of an election-year session.

It is something of a political axiom that a candidate never does anything to help an opponent get his sales pitch over to the public. A politician can spend weeks and thousands of dollars touring the highways and byways of Ohio's 88 counties and 41,000 square miles—and still attract little public attention.

But give the same politician the perfect sounding board of a legislative session and he's likely to get his story told all over the state inside 24 hours—in newspapers and via radio and television.

That is another reason a governor seeking re-election considers the height of folly to summon legislators during a campaign.

Records show there have been 23 special sessions of the General Assembly in the last 25 years.

In the deep Depression years of 1933-34, Democratic Gov. George White had the legislature in almost continual special session for an entire year.

But, in 1934, White was not a candidate for re-election. His successor, Democrat Martin L. Davey, braved and beat the election-year session jinx in 1936 and was re-elected. But he broke out into a rash of special sessions in 1937-38. In 1938, he was a candidate for a third term, but he was not even renominated.

Then came Bricker, who beat the jinx in his first term, called no special sessions during his second, but called two in his third. He was not a candidate for re-election during his third term.

After his bitter experience of defeat in 1946, Lausche waited until his fifth term—when he was ready to retire from the governor's office—to call another election-year session. In that year, 1956, he called two.

Leopold Fitting In Well In $10-a-Month Lab Job

CASTANER, Puerto Rico (AP)—Nathan Leopold is learning the techniques of his $10-a-month laboratory job in the hospital here and using most of his spare time to answer his mail.

One hospital official said the paroled Chicago slayer has received 2,800 letters in three weeks from all over the United States. He intends to answer every letter.

This little settlement, high in the hills 80 miles from San Juan, seems to be granting Leopold privacy. He appealed for privacy when he was released from prison in Illinois March 13 after serving 3½ years of a life sentence for the 1924 slaying of Bobby Franks.

The village has accepted him with scant curiosity. You could say it was more or less the same curiosity usually shown in a small town toward any new arrival from another town, an official of the Church of the Brethren Hospital said.

Leopold took pains to explain to newsmen who saw him at San Juan Airport upon his arrival March 15 that conditions imposed by his parole definitely prevented any interview. Hospital officials refuse permission for interviews or photographs.

Hospital authorities say Leopold has been working in the laboratory with another technical already employed there. His work consists of taking x-rays, making blood tests and the like.

"Actually he is getting familiar with the general setup," an official said, "and learning new techniques. As soon as he is fully acquainted with the work to be done here he will be working alone."

"He seems to be very conscientious in his work."

Leopold, now 53, starts his working day at 8 a. m., works a regular eight-hour shift, but is on call for additional hours if needed. He takes his meals with the rest in the hospital dining room.

He speaks Spanish with his patients and those who have worked with him say he has been happy with the way he has been accepted.

Thus far Leopold has not left the hospital to go to Adjuntas, the small town nearest to Castaner. Castaner itself is a rural community comprising a great number of small one-acre farms. Right in its midst is the Castaner Hospital.

Advertisers Oppose Ohio 'Blue Laws'

MOUNT VERNON (AP)—The day of the week a man chooses for his sabbath is no concern of any government, Ohio's Seventh-Day Adventists contend.

Out of their 21st biennial constituency convention of the Ohio Adventist Conference here Sunday came a resolution to oppose so-called "blue laws." It was unanimously accepted and says, in part: "Blue laws, which prevent certain activities on Sunday, are nothing more than religious legislation, and religious legislation is unconstitutional."

Saturday is the sabbath for Adventists.

Church Draws 7,500

The Rich Enjoy Chopping Wood

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a poor young woodcutter named Emil Q. Hardeman.

He was the son of a woodcutter and the grandson of a woodcutter.

Emil was sturdy and strong and he worked hard. But he hated his work. He was so busy cutting down the trees he could not see the forest.

On his 21st birthday his father gave him a new ax for a present. It did not please the ambitious young man.

"There is more to life than woodcutting," said Emil, throwing the ax into a corner of the hut.

He left and went to the big city and got himself a job collecting for a small loan agency.

Thanks to his stern honesty and his sterner muscles, Emil at 25 owned the small loan agency.

At 30 he owned a bigger loan agency.

At 50 he owned a chain of banks, hotels, shooting galleries, ship lines, oil fields and diaper laundries.

At 60 he owned — well, if it wasn't nailed down, it belonged to Emil. He had $1 billion, but all of a sudden he was desperately unhappy.

His hands shook. He no longer enjoyed chorus girls, caviar or yachts. He couldn't eat. He could not sleep.

Emil sailed the world seeking the best medical advice. Nothing helped. Finally he heard of a famous missionary doctor in an African jungle.

The doctor did not give Emil any laboratory tests. He merely felt his pulse, listened to his heart and asked him to stick out his tongue.

Then he inquired: "When were you healthiest in your life?"

"When I was chopping wood," said Emil.

"Well," said the doctor, "Go back and chop some more wood."

So Emil went back to the hut of his father and picked up the ax he had flung into the corner long ago. He began to chop wood.

This time he was in no hurry. He had time to look at the forest and tell it from the trees. He had time to listen to the birds sing and to watch the chipmunks play.

Emil gave up the big city forever. He moved the headquarters of his vast enterprises into his father's hut. In the morning he would get up at dawn and go out and cut down a tree. In the afternoon he would confer with his secretaries and buy another big bank, big steel mill or a big chain of restaurants.

And so, content with his lot—and he did have a lot — Emil lived happily ever after.

Moral: It is always more fun to chop wood when you are rich.

Tito on Democracy

By George Sokolsky

One cannot help wondering what compulsion drives this country to subsidize its enemies, particularly Tito who has received over a billion dollars of the American taxpayer's money.

Take Tito's election speech in Belgrade, delivered March 16, 1956, as an example. Tito is running as a delegate to the Federal Council. He is surprised that the people of this particular district of Belgrade chose him. "I wonder why they chose me, since I was not so active in their district?" This wonderment must have been exclusively Tito's as he chose himself and there was no opposition candidate.

So he makes a comparison between East and West. He says:

"... Many newspapers and various storytellers in the west speak about the undemocratic manner of our elections. I do not know that they consider democratic."

"Comrades, in various countries there are, for instance, several parties. Our system is different, it is a socialist system. I will be more exact. They have a capitalist system, a multiparty system and their elections are marked by the class struggle. Class struggle exists there. I will not say that the class struggle is being waged a m o n g struggle parties, several of them. But this is a tactical matter to enlist more voters for their side and for 'various' programs which are as similar as one egg to another. There are also some workers parties but the people and these parties hardly anywhere achieve full expression. Yet, their election struggle is waged under the sign of a class struggle. They fight for the strengthening of their so-called democratic system, the capitalist system. We have a socialist system."

Now you have seen it and now you know. No American will recognize Tito's description of an American election. Tito plans to abolish direct elections. He said:

"... Our electoral system still has an element of the old classic electoral system based on the principles of Western democracy. This is direct casting of votes, which is a bit out of date. It does not matter, perhaps today or tomorrow it will be abandoned and we shall perhaps adequately modify our electoral system according to our entire social development, the level of our development, and our present system

What he plans to substitute for direct elections is not fully clear. Perhaps he plans to have the delegates appointed and who could more properly appoint the delegates than Tito himself?

Then the election would be perfect.

One of Tito's principal objections to the voting system in his own country is that the people would like to elect as delegates somebody whom they know, perhaps a neighbor. Tito says that this is an unhealthy "localism which should not exist in our social life."

"It sure shows a bad spirit on the part of the people to want to vote for someone they know and like. It is much the same as Morrie Ryskind's famous line: 'Come the revolution, you'll eat strawberries mit sweet cream and like it."

Further on this subject, Tito said:

"The whole capitalist world is shouting that this is a one-party system. This their world does not want, because I do not believe that it understands, to recognize that this is the most democratic system because it is based on our communal system, on the masses, and not on some kind of party centers. It does not want to recognize this and it is constantly throwing this in our face."

Of course, he does not know that we are beginning to suffer from the one-party system even in the capitalistic United States. We do not want it to be a one-party affair, but somehow the politicians make it that when they are most corrupt and the people are most concerned with their own affairs.

It is during such a period that the politicians get away with anything. What they like is for all of them to sip from the same straw; then they know that everybody is getting the same syrup.

But with us, when we stop making man - gods out of politicians and other public servants and when we kick them about for the corruptions and indecencies, they stop, for a while, to eat our bread and to drink our wine, out of house and home, as the expression goes.

It is then that we choose different politicians not because we believe that they will be any better than those whom we dispossessed, but because experience has shown that when a gang is in office too long, it gets used to believing its own publicity. Nothing worse can happen to a public man.

Egg Hunt Gives Sponsors a Lesson

TULSA (AP)—The Tulsa Junior Chamber of Commerce staged its first Easter egg hunt Sunday and learned something about next year's hunt.

The members hid some 5,500 eggs in a city park and sat back waiting for the hunt at 3 p. m. A larger than expected crowd arrived by 2:30 p. m.

At 2:40 an unidentified youngster gave a loud blast on a toy police whistle.

Five minutes later, after a wild scramble, the Easter egg hunt was over. One Jaycee official said a police siren will start the hunt next year.

World Wonders Why Star Dated Underworld Figure

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The slaying of Johnny Stompanato by Lana Turner's 14-year-old daughter must have most of Hollywood — and the world — asking today: How can a known underworld figure become the boy friend of a top movie star?
"It's all my fault. It's all my fault," one close friend quoted Lana on her daughter Cheryl's predicament.

Is it?
Four times married and divorced, with numerous boy friends in between, the 38-year-old actress saw in handsome Johnny excitement and new kicks.
It may be hard for people unfamiliar with the town to comprehend, but Hollywood can be dull for movie queens.

Many a beautiful doll has to sit at home nights for the simple reason there is a drastic shortage of eligible men.
Sexy Barbara Nichols, an unmarried actress who came here from New York, summed it up: "Sure, I'd like to get married, but every interesting man I've met out here is either married or spoken for."

Even such an international beauty as Zsa Zsa Gabor has been escorted to recent Hollywood functions by her press agent. One publicity man reveals that one of the biggest chores of his job is lining up dates for clients world famous for their beauty.

Lana met the 32-year-old Stompanato soon after her rift with Lex Barker, former screen Tarzan who was her latest husband.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Clinton Anderson quoted her: "My first call I received from him about a year ago. I didn't recall ever having met him or having seen him before, but he mentioned mutual friends."

"After that he called at intervals for two or three weeks, wanting to come over for a drink or a chat. He kept pestering, and I finally accepted a date with him."

Los Angeles police intelligence reports on known underworld figures say this about Stompanato: "He acquits himself with females of wealth. He courts them, and after he is deeply involved, borrows money and never repays the loan."

Meeting Stompanato was easy for Lana. Getting rid of him was not.

That's what led to the violent arguments climaxed Friday night in the stabbing.

Cheryl, fearful for her mother's life after hearing threats from Stompanato, strode up to him and rammed a brand-new kitchen knife, razor sharp, into his right side.

A post-mortem showed that the knife blade had penetrated the liver, aorta and portal vein, causing a massive hemorrhage. The youngster, described by Anderson as frozen with fear, calmly pulled out the eight-inch blade and laid it on a nearby coffee table.

Carmine Stompanato, the victim's older brother, arrived to take the body back to Woodstock, Ill., for burial. Ex-gambler Mickey Cohen, for whom the younger Stompanato once worked as a bodyguard, expects to fly back for the burial.

Meanwhile, Cheryl remained in Juvenile Hall pending a hearing Tuesday in Santa Monica Superior Court.

Jerry Giesler, famed filmland attorney retained by Lana, said he will argue that the slaying was justifiable homicide and that thus no trial is necessary.

Accused Bank Thug Returned to Ohio

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Glenn Dolvin, who was picked up in San Diego, Calif., with $18,500 while out on bond awaiting trial here on a bank robbery charge, has been returned to Youngstown.

Youngstown detectives brought back the 31-year-old Dolvin over the weekend. He had been picked up in San Diego as a suspected drunken driver 10 days ago, and the money was found in a glove compartment of his car.
Dolvin was free on $50,000 bond pending appeal of his conviction for the $3,000 armed robbery of a Penney store near Boardman.

Ohio GOP Vote May Top Total By Democrats

5 to 4 Edge Expected In Buckeye Primary Election on May 6

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republicans may outvote Democrats nearly five to four in Ohio's May 6 primary elections.

Registration reports from election boards in major counties indicate that division in the voting.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who holds a high batting average in voting predictions, estimates the total vote at about 950,000. His guess is more than 80,000 above the total of 869,222 votes in the primaries of 1954, comparable non-presidential election year.

Brown did not estimate how the parties will divide this year's primary vote. On the basis of his total forecast, the split could run about 520,000 Republican and 430,000 Democrat votes.

In 1954, Republicans cast 480,464 and Democrats 388,758 primary votes.

The record-high 1952 primary total of 1,335,055 was composed of 936,574 Republican and 398,481 Democrat votes. In the 1956 primary, Republicans cast 650,131 votes and Democrats 572,332 for a total of 1,222,463.

Ohio's population of more than nine million includes an estimated six million potential voters. On that basis, fewer than one-sixth of those who might vote may go to the polls on primary day.

Several counties report record registrations this year. Others where registrations were slow said the voting potential remained high because those who registered in record numbers two years ago still are eligible to cast ballots.

Registrations in the 39 counties having countywide or partial registration requirements are good for two years. In areas where registration is not required, residents can vote if they are 21 or older on Nov. 4, general election day, and have lived in the state a year and in their county and precinct 40 days.

Latest figures from Cuyahoga County show a record off-year registration total of 702,907. Registrations are off slightly in Cleveland but those in other parts of the county boosted the aggregate.

Cuyahoga County's biggest primary vote was about 251,000 in 1952. Officials said voted interest is running high this year because two of seven candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination are Clevelanders.

Montgomery County listed 200,096 registered for a new high but officials estimated only about 40,000 would vote in the primaries.

Franklin County's total of 210,000 is the highest for any presidential year. Butler County

Interest in the primaries appeared somewhat milder in Hamilton County where 361,311 registered for a lower than usual total. Registration also was light in Mahoning County but heavy registrations in 1956 kept this year's total of about 144,000 relatively high.

Lucas County registrations hit a new high of 202,016 and Summit County expects its total to reach or better the 200,000 mark.

'Sack' Invades Even Fashions Of Nursery

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Never let it be said that America's younger set doesn't keep up with the fashion parade.

The chemise now has swept the kindergarten crowd, and small glamor girls are proudly showing off their new beltless, casual spring dresses.

For the small fry, two styles are favorites — the middy with the pleated skirt and the straight full dress that hangs free from a shoulder yoke, in line with the trapeze silhouette launched for spring by Yves Saint-Laurent, the new head in the house of Dior.

Little girls look cute as buttons in these new frocks, which faithfully follow grown-up trends. After all, when you're only four years old, you don't worry too much about your feminine form — and your knees are still dimpled, so you don't mind showing them.

Here is one age group in which the chemise silhouette meets no opposition. Even Daddy approves of his small daughter in the new sack look.

The new children's dresses for spring are practical too. Many are available in the new easy-care fabrics and finishes which can be washed and drip dried without ironing. Others are in fine cotton broadcloth and linen with new finishes which make them spot and wrinkle resistant.

They come in white, the full range of pastels and smart dark colors such as chocolate brown and navy.

B Vitamin May Hold Key To Cancer Cure in Smokers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If smoking causes lung cancer there may be a way of treating or even preventing it with one of the B vitamins.

Tests on mice already are under way here. The first results will be reported probably in June. If they are favorable, there still will be a long jump from mouse to man, but it will be worth a good try.

This first hopeful turn in the long controversial story of cigarettes and lung cancer came in a meeting of cancer researchers and science writers. The meeting was one of several across the country sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Benjamin F. Freedlander and a colleague, Frederic A. French, disclosed they were testing the ability of a chemical known as 3-acetyl pyridine, or 3-AP for short, to cause a type of lung malignancy in mice.

And at the same time they are testing the ability of niacin to prevent or counteract any cancerous process which may be started by 3-AP.

There is no proof yet that 3-AP causes cancer but Dr. Freedlander reported circumstantial evidence which puts it under suspicion.

Dr. Freedlander demonstrated that mice kept on a niacin-deficient diet and given a cancer-causing chemical developed twice as many malignant growths as mice which got a normal diet plus the cancer chemical.

Some cigarette smokers already are taking niacin on the strength of the information so far developed. Dr. Freedlander said there was no indication yet that it would do any good but added that there is no reason to believe it would be harmful.

Building Report Is To Be Made at Central PTA Meet

One of the important meetings of the year will be held Wednesday night by the Central School Parent-Teacher Assn., the president, Richard Whiteside, said.

Possibly taking the center of interest will be a report on the progress of the city school building program by a member of the school board; which board member will make the report is not yet certain.

The nominating committee will present a slate of candidates for the annual election of officers.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Robert Woodmansee, will be put on by Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and Cub Scouts.

The meeting will open at 7 p. m., half an hour earlier than usual. The earlier time, it was explained, was set because this will be a school night and pupils are on the program.

AP Guesspert Picks Cards To Win in NL

Milwaukee Rated Second, Reds Third In Early Prediction

By JACK HAND
AP Baseball Expert
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Although Milwaukee's Braves are favored to repeat as National League champions, it looks like another wild scramble with the St. Louis Cardinals picked here to sneak home first.

The Braves are the odds-makers choice off their eight-game victory in 1957 and their fine performance in beating the New York Yankees in the World Series. This observer, who picked the Braves a year ago, is not convinced they have the stuff to repeat.

St. Louis must have exceptional years from men like Wally Moon, Ken Boyer, Del Ennis and Stan Musial. It must find a couple of 20-game winners among Sam Jones, Vinegar Bend Mizell, Lindy McDaniel and Larry Jackson. Al Dark must learn the tricks of third base play. Most of all, they have to be lucky.

On the basis of their spring training performance, Fred Hutchinson's Cardinals rate a long-shot chance of upsetting the favorites.

Milwaukee has the club, on paper. The pitching is solid with Bob Rush added to Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl. Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron give the Braves the big punch.

However, Manager Fred Haney still has a centerfield problem with Bill Bruton recovering slowly from a knee operation. Aaron probably will have to play center again for the first part of the season. If anything serious should be the matter with Del Crandall's elbow, the catching could be a prime headache.

It remains to be seen whether Red Schoendienst again can stand up under everyday play. And who expects Bob Hazle to hit .400 again?

Cincinnati sacrificed tremendous power in trading Wally Pate and Ted Kluszewski. It is the opinion here that the added pitching of Harvey Haddix and Bob Purkey won't be enough to rescue a staff that was last in the league last year.

The new fans in Los Angeles' vast Coliseum will see a Dodger team based on pitching, rather than home run power. Manager Walter Alston has perhaps the best staff in the league.

Roy Campanella's loss will weaken the club. The Dodgers do not have an adequate No. 1 replacement. Duke Snider's slow recovery from an off season knee operation, may cut into his value.

Philadelphia has infield trouble. Robin Roberts has been in-and-out. The club still lacks punch despite the addition of Post.

San Francisco must count on new men like Orlando Cepeda, Willie Kirkland and Jim Davenport to give their new Giants enough punch to beat out Pittsburgh and Chicago. Willie Mays, of course, is the man who makes the big difference on this club.

Kluszewski can mean the difference between sixth and eighth with Pittsburgh. The pitching behind Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline and Vern Law remains thin.

When Moe Drabowsky gets back from service soon to team with Dick Drott, the Chicago Cubs will have two topnotch pitchers. Ernie Banks and Dale Long are the home run threats, but the batting order is weak.

So this is how it looks from here:

1. St. Louis
2. Milwaukee
3. Cincinnati
4. Los Angeles
5. Philadelphia
6. San Francisco
7. Pittsburgh
8. Chicago

War or Not, Cuban Ball To Continue

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The International League is going ahead with plans to open the baseball season in Havana despite threats of war in Cuba.

League representatives Sunday voted unanimously for this "unless conditions materially change."

Frank J. Shaughnessy, league president, remarked, "It's as quiet there as it is here."

President John C. Stiglmeier of the Buffalo team, which has the opener in Havana April 16, said he was happy over the decision.

League representatives from five U.S. cities, two in Canada, and Havana met for two hours behind locked doors to discuss the situation brought on by rebel leader Fidel Castro's campaign against the government of Fulgencio Batista.

It is known that Stiglmeier went into the "emergency meeting" reluctant to play in Havana. He had said he objected to his team being used as "guinea pigs."

Anyway, he said, baseball players would not be molested in his island.

"Baseball in Cuba is like a religion," he said. "It's out of politics."

Palmer Wins '58 Masters, Relaxes with Practice

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"I get my relaxation from golf by practicing," said Arnold Palmer.

"I am in this game to win championships—the Masters, the Open, the PGA Money is not the biggest factor. I want to be the best."

This was the new Masters golf champion talking—a thick-shoudered young man of 28 from the coal and steel area of western Pennsylvania.

Palmer, son of a Latrobe, Pa., professional, won the 22nd Masters over the Augusta National course Sunday in a close, dramatic stretch run. He had a 72-hole score of 284.

Defending champion Doug Ford,

Mahopac, N.Y., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex., missed birdie putts on the final green and finished in a tie for second place at 285.

Ken Venturi, San Francisco, leader through the first two rounds, three-putted three consecutive holes on the back nine to wind up at 286, tied with Canada's Stan Leonard.

Sam Snead, Cary Middlecoff, Bo Wininger, Art Wall, Al Mengert and amateur Billy Maxwell all saw their hopes explode after making a battle of it until the last holes.

"Palmer reminds me a lot of Snead," said Ford. "He whales the devil out of the ball. He is always on the offensive. I think he will be a great player for years to come."

Two 3's on his card provided the difference between defeat and victory. On the short 12th hole, he imbedded his drive into a bank back of the green.

An official said he must play the ball. Palmer insisted he was entitled to a free drop. He played two balls—the first one for a 5, a provisional one for a 3. Later the rules committee upheld Palmer's 3.

The other 3 came on the next hole, a dogleg 13th measuring 475 yards. A fierce three-wood second shot sent the ball hooking slightly to the green and his putter sank from 18 feet for an eagle.

Palmer said his next tournament appearance would be in the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas three weeks hence. Then he'll follow the tour to the National Open at Tulsa, Okla., in mid-June.

Detroit Tigers Still Plagued By Pesky Losing Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The plight of the Detroit Tigers is getting desperate.

Despite threats of fines and reprimands by Manager Jack Tighe, the Tigers go right on losing.

Despite the addition of Billy Martin, supposed to inject the needed hustle in the club, the Tiger keep on losing.

Despite the vote of confidence awarded Tighe by the board of directors, the Tigers keep on losing.

They now have lost six straight exhibition games. In their last four, including Sunday's 3-0 loss at the hands of the rampaging Boston Red Sox at Sarasota, the Bengals have scored just four runs.

Their over-all record stands at 6-17.

Sox right-handers Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer held the Tigers to five hits. It was Boston's 11th victory in 12 starts.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, unbeaten in their previous seven, suffered an 8-3 defeat at Nashville, Tenn., from the Washington Senators. Brooks Lawrence was the victim. Hal Griggs held off the Redlegs until the seventh, when he was rescued by Truman Cleveland.

World Series star Lew Burdette found himself in the unusual position of heading for the showers before he could retire a batter. It happened at Fort Worth, Tex., where the Dodgers licked the Milwaukee Braves 11-5.

Burdette, who had given up just one hit in seven previous innings, started for the Braves and promptly was rocked by four singles, a walk and a couple of errors. Out he went. By the time the inning was over, the Dodgers had scored six runs and the game was out of reach of the world champions.

In other action, the Philadelphia Phillies topped the New York Yankees 3-2 at Columbia, S.C.; the San Francisco Giants edged the Cleveland Indians, 9-7 at San Antonio; the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Kansas City A's 5-2 at Fort Myers, Fla.; the Chicago White Sox halted the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 at Houston, and the Baltimore Orioles turned back the Chicago Cubs 7-3 at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The Phillies scored all their runs on homers. Dave Philley connected in the 12th for the winning run. Stan Lopata hit a two-run homer.

Bob Schmidt singled home Whitely Lockman for San Francisco's winning run in the 10th.

Roberto Clemente of the Pirates blasted a grand-slam homer in the eighth to wipe out a 2-1 Kansas City lead.

Dick Donovan, pitched seven scoreless innings and hit a homer for the White Sox. The Orioles got 15 hits off five Cub pitchers.

Tebbetts Praising Lefty Bill Wight

FORT KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Southpaw Bill Wight, a 36-year-old baseball veteran that Manager Birdie Tebbetts says will remedy a deficiency in the Cincinnati Redlegs of last season.

Tebbetts said Sunday that Wight, purchased from Baltimore, "is a great competitor. He has excellent control for a lefthander and keeps his pitches low. This is important, especially at Crosley Field."

The manager said, "Last season, the lack of a reliable lefthanded relief pitcher was a glaring weakness," and added that Wight "is a specialist in that respect. He also has the reputation of being at his best against top-flight clubs."

Changing The Subject

By JACK AYER

SOME LAURELS FOR THE SECOND-BEST

It must be practically unanimous now. Word comes from Troy that Jerry Lucas will head the list of 20 fabulous high school cagers to square off June 20 in Troy's Hobart Arena for the first annual North-South Ohio High School All-Star game.

Lucas, we are told, received more votes from Ohio's high school basketball coaches than any other player on either squad. Not only did the ranging Middle get the bulk of votes from his own southwestern district, but he drew accolades from other districts in the state, as well.

Like Joe Palooka's Knobby Walsh, Jerry Lucas' Coach, Paul Walker, will be trailing the gangling hoopster into Troy for the game Walker, who almost coached the Middies to three state titles, will be chief mentor for the South team in the all-star game.

Naturally, in the face of such popularity, we are impressed, and let it not be said that it isn't deserved. But nonetheless, we can't help wishing--for chauvinistic reasons--that Frank Truitt and his Columbus North cagers were dominating the squad.

Truitt, who used to coach at Bloomingburg, certainly couldn't have lost out in any better situation than to Cleveland Tech in the finals of the tournament. But, just because he used to coach at Bloomingburg, we are unable to conceal a wish that Walker's place had been filled by him and Lucas' by his team.

It's a little past due, but while we're on the subject, let us recall a rather odd notion that crossed our mind while watching the North-Middletown game that broke the Middle's winning streak in the middle of the tournament. Our impression was that Lucas, as a scoring ballplayer, was not really exceptional except for his height. We noticed that among the top-drawer North boys, his offense was not spectacular.

But on the other hand, we noticed that Lucas' scoring reputation may have overshadowed all three years another more formidable quality: his rebounding. We think he did better at that than he did at scoring, and we can hardly wait until his college career to see if we were right.

Will Today's Music Stand?

Jo Stafford Notes Absence of Melody

NEW YORK (AP)—What music will today's teen-agers play some day to reminisce about their youth?

The question is posed by singer
Jo Stafford.

"What are you going to do if about all you have to remember is a song like 'Hound Dog'?"

Miss Stafford is one of a fine cast who will appear in a special NBC-TV musical variety show,
"Swing L to Spring," on Wednesday (NBC-TV). The performers include Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald, Dave Garroway,
Harry James, the McGuire Sisters and Bambi Linn and Rod Tlexander.

Discussing popular music today
vs. the popular music of 25 years ago, Miss Stafford said:

"In the past 7 to 10 years we've been lucky if two or three enduring standard songs have come out in any single year. Back in the 1930s dozens came out every year."

But what makes a "standard" song?

"Melody," said Miss Stafford.
"Only melody. And how are you going to make a standard out of music that's four loud drum beats to the bar? For that is what most of our currently popular music is."

She believes that economics has a lot to do with what is currently popular.

"Bad economic times always bring forth good music," she said.
"Darned if I know why. But when you look through the musical library of the 1930s you find a great wealth of truly wonderful music. Perhaps art thrives under starving—although don't get the idea that I think we all ought to go back to starving."

"Perhaps, too, people's sense of values takes a better form when money is not so plentiful."

TV Producer Follows His Own Desires

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"When I was in the paratroops during the war, I used to stand at the door of the plane before a jump and say to myself, 'What am I doing here!'
From that point on, I decided I was only going to do what I really wanted to do."

This comes from Albert Mc-Cleery, dynamic executive producer of NBC's Matinee Theater.
What he likes to do is produce TV plays, and he devotes most of his waking hours to it.

Critics have hailed Matinee as the best thing by far in daytime programs. Unfortunately, quality

News in Brief

More Britons Join Protest Of H-Bomb Test

READING, England (AP)—Nearly 2,000 Britons got up early today to swell the ranks of an anti-H-bomb procession winding its way along a highway near here.

The column, nearly 1,100 strong when it swung into this industrial town, had more than 2,500 men, women and children when it left. More than 1,000 people came down on early trains from London to devote part of their Easter to this crusade.

To the 'Ban the Bomb' marching song played on guitars and washboards, the mile-long column left Reading's main square for the British nuclear weapons research station at Aldermaston.

The four-day, 48-mile march began Friday in London's Trafalgar Square. It was to end this afternoon with a rally in an Aldermaston field.

Most of the cranks and known Communists have dropped out of the march, leaving Socialists, pacifists and professed nonpolitical citizens.

TOKYO (AP)—North Korea today said the withdrawal of the first 40,000 Chinese Communist troops was completed Saturday.

Pyeongyang radio reported three Chinese divisions had crossed the Yalu River border.

The Chinese have said 80,000 troops, or six divisions, would leave North Korea between March 15 and April 30. Peiping in February pledged to pull out all Chinese forces — estimated at 350,000 by South Korea — by the end of the year.

IWAKUNI, Japan (AP)—Navy vessels continued a search today for six missing men who were aboard a U.S. seaplane that crashed, burned and sank Sunday three miles offshore.

A Japanese cargo boat picked up 2 bodies and 3 survivors of the 11 crew members soon after the crash.

The twin-engine P5M Martin of the 48th Seaplane Interceptor Squadron, based at San Diego, Calif., was on a deployment tour. It crashed shortly after take-off at the Iwakuni Marine Corps seadrome.

TOKYO (AP)—War-time adversaries of Japan today cut the life sentences of 10 Japanese major war criminals to the 10 years they have already served. All are out on parole, and the clemency action ended their parole periods.

The 11-nation international military tribunal convicted the 10 in 1948. They were paroled in 1955-56.

The parolees had been living under police surveillance. They include former Finance Minister Okinori Kaya, architect of Japan's wartime coprosperity sphere for greater East Asia.

Still held in Sugamo are 34 minor war criminals who were convicted by the United States.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union expects to have the big new science city in Siberia open for business by the end of 1959.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, quoted academician M. Lavrentiev as saying the first buildings in the big center outside the west Siberian metropolis of Novosibirsk will be completed by the end of this year. Most of the center's scientific establishments and research institutes should be operating by late 1959, he added.

The operation has been billed by the Soviets as one of the world's foremost science centers.

TOKYO (AP)—The nightmare that haunts every producer of television food commercials happened at Radio Tokyo—a fly made an unscheduled guest appearance.

The insect perched on an open can of salmon just as the camera focused on it for a commercial. For five seconds the fly feasted, and the cameras transmitted its enjoyment to viewers.

The next day letters from viewers flooded the network and the sponsor of the program, a fishery company. The general tone was that the salmon wasn't for humans, it was for the flies. The fish company was only placated when the station gave it another 30-minute spot free. Normally the time would have cost 300,000 yen—$833.

The well-fed fly escaped.

Film, Enforcement
Talk Scheduled
At FOP Meeting

A film and an informal talk on enforcement will highlight the April meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police and FOP Associates set for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in lodge hall.

An Ohio State Patrol officer is scheduled to address the group. Tickets and money from the FOP's benefit movie at the Fayette Theatre last week must be turned in at the meeting, State Patrolman R. B. Shelton, chairman of the film committee, said.

Date of the meeting was postponed.

Railway Unions Back Judge Case

Five Brotherhoods Sign Endorsement

Fayette County Common Pleas Judge John P. Case has received the endorsement of the Ohio Transportation Brotherhoods and Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees in his candidacy for the Second District Court of Appeals.

The unsolicited endorsement came in a letter which said in part:

"We are glad to know that you are looking forward to promotion to a judgeship of the Court of Appeals, and we are glad to say that in our association with you over a period of years as attorney general and assistant attorney general covering the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, we have always found you working in behalf of the citizens of the State of Ohio."

"We are proud, in behalf of our membership, to endorse your candidacy for this position."

THE LETTER is signed by E. J. Karch, Columbus, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; A. F. Heaton, Columbus, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; J. T. Cushing, Columbus, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; C. R. Geer, London, Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen; and C. R. Brown, Sardinia, Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees all are legislative representatives of their unions.

Judge Case, one of two Republican candidates for the single judgeship to be filled this year, is opposed for the party nomination by Judge Roscoe Hornbeck, London, the 79-year-old incumbent.

The Fayette County jurist previously has received the unanimous endorsement of the Fayette County Bar Assn., the Fayette County Republican Committee and the Campaign County Bar Assn.

The Second Appellate District includes Champaign, Clark, Darke, Fayette, Greene, Madison, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Shelby counties.

Judge Case will be a guest at the Greene County Republican Executive Committee dinner in Yellow Springs Monday night.

Morrow Delegate

At Conference on

Local Government

City Councilman Walter Morrow attended a one-day conference on local government problems on the University of Dayton campus Monday.

The program included discussions relating to central business districts, fringe areas and city expansion, expressways and throughway planning, tax structures, local autonomy, community assets in the location of new industry and efficiency in public administration at the local government level.

Attorney General William B. Saxbe was the luncheon speaker.

Councilman Morrow also is president of the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce.

Thief Leaves Good

Advice for Victim

DALLAS (AP)—Police figure H. E. Greenwell got some pretty good advice from a thief who stole the four hubcaps off his car.

They disappeared two weeks ago, and an insurance adjuster already had replaced them before Greenwell discovered a paper sack in his yard. Inside were the hubcaps and this note:

"Surprise! To prevent the occurrence of visits such as mine in the future, may I suggest:

1. Keep your car in the garage. 2. Keep doors, windows and glove compartments locked. 3. Gas can be stolen easily and silently."

On Sunday, more than 200 cancer crusaders will go from house to house all over the county, leaving literature describing cancer and its symptoms and taking contributions which will be used for research for prevention and cure and for treatment of cancer victims.

The Fayette County unit has set $5,000 as the goal for its campaign again this year.

Prisoners in Utah

Ask Maid Service

LOGAN, Utah (AP)—The Cache County jailer thought something was amiss when four prisoners began calling for maid service.

Sheriff's officers found windows had been broken in the second-floor section of the jail and a wooden partition ripped down.

Someone had smuggled whisky to the four inmates and they enjoyed a brief party.

APPEAL DISMISSED

An appeal filed by the defendant in a damage action growing out of an automobile accident 10 miles north of Washington C. H. in September of 1955 has been dismissed by the Second District Court of Appeals on grounds that an amicable settlement has been reached by the two parties.

David H. Bailie, Dayton, had appealed a decision of Fayette County Common Pleas Court which granted a $463 judgment to Raymond St. John, Route 1, Jeffersonville. St. John had sued for $825. The appeal has been pending since March 27, 1957.

APPEAL NOTICES FILED

Two persons whose claims for compensation as the result of accidents were disallowed by the Industrial Commission of Ohio have filed notices of appeal in Common Pleas Court.

Appellants are Joseph Whited, allegedly injured Aug. 31, 1956, while employed by the Eavey Company, and Myrtle Dillion, who claims compensation for an injury which she was sustained June 13, 1955, at the Jackson Glove Manufacturing Co.

The two appellants will bring their cases into Common Pleas Court by petitions to be filed later.

Ives said a temporary income tax cut would not put more money in circulation because, he said, most people would save the amount they gain, not spend it.

By this, he said he meant a drop in excise taxes.

Busy Weekend For Firemen; Loss Moderate

Firemen were active during the weekend handling two grass fires and a stove blaze Saturday afternoon, plus an automobile fire resulting from a five-car accident, Sunday night. With the exception of the car fire, damage was not extensive.

A short circuit in the wiring of a stove caused a fire at the home of Mrs. Leona Tillet, 901 Washington Ave., at 12:05 p. m. Saturday. The blaze was out when firemen arrived.

Flames from a grass fire, apparently ignited by rubbish fire in a wire basket, spread about 40 feet across a lot and caused damage to the garage on the Hattie Little estate, 822 S. Main St., at 2:35 p. m. Saturday. Firemen gave no estimate of the monetary loss to property, furniture and truck, owned by Robert Thompson, in the garage which was not extensively damaged.

ANOTHER GRASS FIRE took firemen to the Allen L. Dumford property, CCC Highway west, where the only damage was to fence posts. Sparks from burning trash in an oil drum caused the blaze.

Firemen extinguished a fire in an automobile owned by Roy V. Farmer, 29, Elmira, N. Y., after an accident involving five cars, Sunday at 8:30 p. m. on the CCC Highway at the Colony Club Restaurant. The gas tank on Farmer's sports car burst when the vehicle was rammed from the rear by another auto. Spurring gasoline was ignited by shortcircuited wiring.

The labor secretary noted that March employment figures are due out Tuesday. He said, "I think I can safely predict that employment for March will show a higher figure than that of February, and that unemployment will not change much from February."

The official figures for February showed 5,200,000 persons out of work. Mitchell said 62 million workers now have jobs.

$10,500 Injury Suit To Go before Jury

A $10,500 personal injury suit growing out of traffic accident will be tried before a Common Pleas Court jury beginning at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Plaintiff in the action is Fred R. Edick, Pittsburgh, who charges that he was struck by a pickup truck driven by the defendant, Charles Junior Laufer, Route 5, in the 200 block of E. Court St. at 12:05 a. m. on the morning of Aug. 15, 1955.

Edick alleges that he was standing at the left rear fender of his car, parked in the north side of the street, and was checking a trailer hitch when Laufer's westbound truck struck him and knocked him to the pavement. He says that he suffered bruises and lacerations and that he suffered the permanent partial loss of use of his right arm.

He asks $10,000 as compensation for injuries and $500 for loss of food in a freezer on his trailer which, he says, spoiled because of his being delayed here.

The plaintiff charges the defendant with negligence, although Laufer in an answer said that any injuries were the result of negligence on the part of the plaintiff who, he says, walked into the side of his truck.

of our consumer goods, and attack the recession headon."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell said President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and he are on record for a tax cut if and when it is necessary.

"Certainly there is no indication right now that it is necessary," Mitchell added.
